FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE PRESS RELEASE

New Training Platform Helps Independent Pet Retailers Onboard Staff Faster and Boost Sales

bloomloop.pet launches with practical, retail-focused courses built by a former multi-store owner.

September 2025 — Vancouver, BC

Independent pet retailers face a common challenge: training new hires quickly while maintaining consistent service standards. bloomloop.pet is a new online training platform designed to solve this problem, offering structured, practical courses for retail staff, managers, and owners.

Created by Pasha Kopytov, who spent 11 years building and managing a small chain of premium pet stores in Vancouver, bloomloop.pet draws directly from real-world retail experience. The courses cover everything from onboarding basics to advanced nutrition knowledge, customer service, sales skills, and leadership.

“One-on-one training takes enormous time and energy, and stores often struggle to deliver it consistently,” says Kopytov. “bloomloop.pet gives retailers a repeatable, self-paced system that builds confidence in staff, improves customer conversations, and strengthens store culture.”

Retailers can use bloomloop.pet to:

- Onboard new hires with consistent, ready-to-use modules
- Equip staff with product knowledge and sales skills
- Support managers and owners with business and leadership tools
- Improve customer experience and increase average sale value

Courses are available on-demand and can be completed at each team member's pace. A free sample course is also available for retailers who want to explore the platform before enrolling.
